

To all students planning to apply for Postgraduate Programmes in Anthropology at CUHK

Due to a change in the Graduate School's schedule for sending out admissions offers, students who submit ALL their application materials before 12 February 2010 will be more likely to be considered in the first round of admissions in March. We strongly urge all MPhil and PhD Programme applicants to submit their application materials before 12 February.

Applicants for the MA programme can also apply before 12 February if they wish to have an earlier decision, but they are free to submit their applications any time before their deadline of 31 March, and their chances of acceptance are not affected by when they apply.

The application deadline for prospective MA students has been extended to 31 May for Sept. admission. However, because of the length of time required to obtain visas, non-local students should apply by 2 May at latest. (Last update: 20 April 2010)
