“Multiculturalism in the Musical Culture of Latin America”

拉丁美洲多遠音樂文化的典型

Chen Ziming is Professor of Music at the Central Conservatory in Beijing and President of the World Music Society of China. Since the 1970s, he has been a pioneer in the teaching of Asian, African, and Latin American music in China. His research interests have taken him to many parts of Asia, Africa, and Latin America, and also include the study of musical instruments and their reform and ethnomusicology in Chinese and global perspectives. Among his many publications is Music of Latin American Music (拉丁美洲音樂 Beijing, People's Music Publishers, 2004).
