I. Educational Aims and Characteristics

The basic educational aims of the Divinity School of Chung Chi College are threefold: (1) to help students grow as mature persons, (2) to equip them in every way so that they can minister in the Spirit of Christ, (3) to promote theological research, enable inter-disciplinary dialogue and facilitate intellectual and cultural development in Hong Kong, Mainland China and overseas Chinese communities.

Divinity School of Chung Chi College is at present the only theological education institution within a Chinese public university. Apart from training pastoral workers, it also aims at raising the level of theologizing of the laity. Intellectual development, spiritual formation, community life, individual critical thinking and self-discipline are the quadrilateral of the School. The School does not belong to any single denomination; it is supported by denominations of several traditions, viz., Congregational, Presbyterian, Reformed, Lutheran, Anglican, Pentecostal, and Methodist. As a result, the approach to theological studies is open and not biased towards a particular doctrinal confession. Acceptance of each other's tradition is stressed.

Divinity School of Chung Chi College takes an ecumenical approach to theological studies. The Bible is accepted to be the main authority for faith and life. Through the historical, literary, sociological, critical approaches to the studies of Scriptures, students and faculty endeavor to be faithful to the living Word of God and to interpret the Bible in the context of the contemporary Church and the world. Students are not required to accept any specific doctrinal position but all are encouraged to develop and defend their chosen theological positions by means of the highest standards of scholarship. Mutual respect in spite of differences in doctrine is heavily stressed as the prerequisite for community life and good scholarship.

We aim to provide a holistic education which includes all aspects of spiritual, intellectual and social development. The curricula of the various degree programmes in the Divinity School of Chung Chi College are oriented toward Missio Dei. Practical training for ministry is stressed along with intellectual and spiritual development. Recently, the project of Integration of Clinical Pastoral Education and Theological Education is implemented as one of our training models.

Full time single students are expected to be in residence in the Theology Building. Family quarters are also provided for students with family. Opportunities for interaction with students of other Departments are plentiful in CUHK. Students are encouraged to exercise self-discipline, integrity and respect. Students can choose to take for credit or audit all the courses offered by CUHK as long as he/she meets the requirements of that particular department. Students can also enjoy the facilities provided by CUHK, so that they may engage knowledge in all ways and interact with faculty and students from different departments. The extensive academic environment and broad campus will enable them to widen their horizon and become leaders of the times.

II. Brief History

In Chung Chi College, the traditions of theological education from the mainland churches and thirteen Christian colleges of Mainland China have been preserved and developed. The historical roots of the Divinity School of Chung Chi College go back as far as 1864 when the Training School of Canton Presbyterian Mission was established at Fati, Guangdong. In 1914, this School joined with the Anglican Church and the Methodist Church to form Canton Union Theological College. During the War, this College had, at various times, affiliated with the University of Central China and with Lingnam University. After the War, the Anglican Church, Wei Li Kung Hui, and Christian Mission to Buddhists joined together to establish Hong Kong Union Theological College. The Church of Christ in China and the Chinese Methodist Church supported Trinity Theological College in Singapore.

Chung Chi College had been having religious education and theological training as part of the academic programme since 1957. Before joining The Chinese University of Hong Kong in 1963, the theological training was separately provided by Chung Chi Theological Seminary, with the Hong Kong Theological Institute of the Church of Christ in China as the nucleus. Dr. Chi Tung YUNG, the President of Chung Chi College, was the first President of the Chung Chi Theological Seminary. Chung Chi Theological Seminary continued the affiliation with Chung Chi College.

The Seminary was established as a joint effort by the Hong Kong Council of the Church of Christ in China, the Anglican Church, the Chinese Methodist Church, Wei Li Kung Hui, Swatow Baptist Church and the Tsung Tsin Mission. The Board of the Seminary which was formed by representatives from the supporting churches, planned the construction of the Theology Building on the campus of the Chung Chi College. In 1966, Tsung Tsin Lok Yuk Seminary joined the Chung Chi Theological Seminary. Lok Yuk Seminary had a history which went back to 1864 when it was first established in Lilong of Po On District. After changing locations for several times, it was finally re-established in Sai Kung, Hong Kong in 1955.

In 1968, the Seminary as such ceased to exist and its function was transferred to the Theology Division (the former name of the Divinity School of Chung Chi College) in the reorganized Department of Philosophy and Religion of the Chinese University of Hong Kong, later known as the Department of Religion in 1978 and restructured to be the Department of Cultural and Religious Studies in 2004. The Theology Building was completed and began to function in 1969 and was renovated in 2000. The Divinity School of Chung Chi College, under the Theological Council, is mainly financed independently by Church gifts and funds from the Trustees of Chung Chi College; but academically, it is a recognized part of the University to offer degree programmes in Theology and Christian Studies. In memory of Rev. Pommerenke who donated a piece of land at Siu Tao Fung Shan, the Pommerenke Lectureship of Christianity and Chinese Culture has been set up since 1998 by the Trustees of the College.

To strengthen its current unique identity as the only theological education institution within a Chinese public university and in order to enhance the collaboration with other seminaries in other parts of the world, Theology Division is renamed as Divinity School of Chung Chi College with effect from August 1, 2004.

Divinity School of Chung Chi College is also a full member of the Association for Theological Education in South East Asia (ATESEA) and the Hong Kong Theological Education Association and offers programmes of the South East Asia Graduate School of Theology (established by ATESEA).

A little more than half of our alumni were ordained ministers and serve in various parishes in Hong Kong and abroad. The rest serve in tertiary institutions, seminaries, Christian organizations, education and social service agencies, industrial, commercial and other professional sectors.

III. Supporting Churches

The Churches represented in the Theological Council are: the Anglican Church, the Church of Christ in China (Hong Kong Council), the Tsung Tsin Mission, the Methodist Church, Hong Kong and Pentecostal Holiness Church.

VIII. Overseas Partnership and Exchange Programmes

Since our school was founded, we have been zealously reaching out from our own locale: promoting the knowledge of both Chinese and Western academia, encouraging our students, pastors and others to embrace pluralistic traditions, developing a globalistic horizon, devoting ourselves to interact with both the academic institutions of Mainland China and other countries, and establishing platforms for overseas exchange. In the earlier days, our school has built close ties (or has partnership programmes) with some theological institutions in South East Asia such as Trinity Theological College, Singapore and also Tainan Theological College and Seminary. Moreover, as a member of ATESEA, we pro-actively cooperate with 104 theological institutions from 16 countries/regions all over Asia. Since 1998, our school has begun to share our teaching resources with Myanmar's seminaries, through cooperation with Association for Theological Education in Myanmar (ATEM) and Methodist Theological College (in cooperation with The Methodist Church, Great Britain) to develop and train the teachers there. In the last decade, our school has also taken a further step to strengthen our cooperation with other theological institutions in the west. For example, from 1999 to 2006, we began to cooperate with the Westminster College, Oxford to offer distance learning programme that lead to the award of BTh (Oxon). After the Westminster College joined the Oxford Brookes University, in addition to the Oxon programme, the collaboration offered also a similar programme that lead to BA (Hon) in Theology. We successfully conducted immersion courses for Andover Newton Theological School in 2004 and Graduate Theological Union, Berkeley in 2007. We are now making plans to conduct the same one for Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist University in January 2009. From 2010, our school is going to implement exchange programmes with Yale Divinity School. Below are the exchange programmes between our school and other institutions in Mainland China and abroad which we are currently committed to:

	United Board for Christian Higher Education in Asia	Every year our school provides accommodation and research resources for scholars from GTU and Asian academic institutions who are enrolled in the Institute for Advanced Study in Asian Cultures and Theology (IASACT) programme, promoting exchange between these scholars and our school as well as other scholars in Hong Kong.

IX. Pastoral Programme

A. Brief History

Two characteristics are distinctive to the Divinity School of Chung Chi College: first, she is a pan-denominational collaboration aiming at training various kinds of minister; second, as a constitutive part of a university, she is an academic unit. These two characteristics naturally give the basic form of her mission: an endeavor to integrate theological theories with ministerial practice. In view of all these, the 1981 Theological Education Consultation Meeting decided to establish a "Pastoral Center", emphasizing that a close cooperation between the Divinity School of Chung Chi College and churches. In 1983, the Theological Council endorsed this idea. Under the auspices of The Hong Kong Council of the Church of Christ in China, the "Pastoral Programme" was experimentally set up in 1984. Our thanks go to God for the achievements that the Pastoral Programme has made during the years. The "Pastoral Programme" is now an essential and integral part of the School. In July 1998, the Theological Council resolved to create a post with the title "Practical Education Co-ordinator". In order to enhance students' ability to integrate theory and practice, it was decided that the post be filled by a candidate who, on the one hand, had obtained a doctorate in theology, and on the other hand, has had experience in teaching. The setting up of this post has been very smooth with the support of CWM/Nethersole Fund and Chan King Yee Family Fund. The further development of the "Pastoral Programme", however, could only be possible with the full support of the Christian community. Besides, thanks also go to the CWM/Nethersole Fund, in particular for their support to the project entitled "Mission Enhancement Project", which began in 2000. A project executive who has attained a higher degree in theology as well as received training in Journalism and Communication has been employed to plan and execute the concerned programmes and activities. This project will set up a Christian "think-tank" dedicated to enhance the local churches to carry out their mission more effectively in a society with increasingly complicated issues and new challenges.

Since 2006, because of the rapid expansion of the Pastoral Program, we added an additional Associate Director of Pastoral Program to help with the coordination and restructuring of our programs and also strengthening the relationships with local churches. We also started a new "Young Pastor Support Network" program in 2007, to provide young pastors with continuing spiritual formation, direction and training.

B. Programmes and Activities

It thereby enhances the competence of the churches in responding to complicated social issues, so that the Hong Kong churches may carry out their mission more relevantly and effectively. The project publishes a monthly bulletin which analyzes social issues which churches are concerned with and provides various perspectives for reference. Moreover, it conducts researches on the situation of the church and society. It also offers courses and organizes seminars.

XI. Resource Centre for Contemporary Christian Studies

Resource Centre for Contemporary Christian Studies is a teaching and research-based project of the Divinity School of Chung Chi College. Established in 2003, it helps to facilitate the participants to collect data for teaching and conducting researches in Christian Studies, by making arrangements for them to access the five libraries of the Chinese University of Hong Kong, which hold a total of 1.6 million reading materials and more than 30,000 journals.

The Resource Centre provide services to lecturers of universities (or equivalent education institutions) and seminaries in Mainland China such as facilitating relevant materials to lecturers for preparing teaching materials in Christian Studies, which may include a 4-week supervision to assist the lecturers in their preparation to teach these subjects, or perhaps furnish resources for lecturers who may be teaching one or two new courses in Christian Studies. Apart from these, church visits and visits to local Christian organizations can also be arranged as well. Another special service provided includes a 14 to 15-week or 6 months supervision on teaching preparation and research.

In addition, the Resource Centre arranges a 4-week Intensive Summer School every July to August for Master degree or Doctoral degree students in Christian Studies from Mainland China. For the first two weeks, participants attend intensive lectures to ground their knowledge on Christianity. These lectures include "Introductions to Old/ New Testament", "Introduction to Christian Ethnics and Dogmatics". ## XII. The Centre for Christian Studies

Background

In 2004, the Department of Religion in the Chinese University of Hong Kong expanded to become Department of Cultural and Religious Studies (DCRS). For the period 2005-2006, DCRS has altogether established the Centre for the Study of Humanistic Buddhism, Centre for Catholic Studies, as well as Centre for the Study of Daoist Culture. To keep up with this development, the Divinity School of Chung Chi College (DSCCC), with the support of the Theological Council, has decided to establish the Centre for Christian Studies in the DCRS.

The Chinese translation of 'Christianity' refers to the post 16th century Protestant tradition exclusively and neglects both the Catholic and Orthodox traditions. Our Centre will focus on all these three traditions of Christianity and their dialogue with other faith and religious traditions, which in fact fit the multicultural and religious situation of Hong Kong and China and would contribute more holistically and effectively the understanding of our modern world.

Objectives

2. Enhancing academic exchanges among scholars of various Christian traditions.
3. Promoting knowledge of Protestant Christianity and its relationship with other Christian traditions as well as other faiths and religions.

XII. The Centre for Quality-Life Education

Background

Pragmatism, cost-effectiveness and pursuit of wealth naturally becomes the predominant values in Hong Kong's society, granting her strategic economic status and location in the region. It is inevitable that these values become those of Education as well. Parents and the education system are more inclined to put undue emphasis on the student's intellectual development, academic results and their ability to compete in society, but little attention is paid on the student's personality and development of the whole-person. The recognition of this need has led to an emphasis on life education in recent years. Besides, the current education reform provides a good opportunity to rethink the philosophy of education and its implementation.

The above explains the reason why the Divinity School of Chung Chi College established the Centre for Quality-Life Education in 2010. The Centre works with churches and church-affiliated schools to promote life education in schools.

Mission

1. Promote the Development of Holistic Personality
Encourage churches and church-affiliated schools towards the development of Quality-Life Education, assist Christians and students to pursue truth, nurture of wisdom, and to be connected and co-operate. It will marshal its sources to contribute to churches, society and the welfare of the people.
2. Serve Churches and the Society
Facilitate connections between churches and church-affiliated schools, encourage students to join the Christian community (church), so that they may continue to experience Christ's moral integrity and values. With enhanced attitude to life, the students will contribute to the society eventually.
3. Enhance the Dialogue between Christianity and Different Cultures
Promote rationality and open-mindedness in churches and church-affiliated schools to appreciate our cultural heritage and other humanities subjects so that they are able to understand the similarities between Christian culture and our cultural heritage, and also the uniqueness of Christian faith.

Programmes

1. To gather scholars in the field of religious and life education, senior ministers and educators to make analysis and provide suggestions on present situations of religious and life education in Hong Kong.

2. To develop research in the area of life education, and life education in church-affiliated schools.
3. To organize courses including Diploma Programme in Quality-Life Education, seminars, workshops and retreat camps.
4. To produce newsletters and publications on studies / developments about religious and life education.

Diploma Programme in Christian Life Education

Since 2010, our School has organized the Diploma Programme in Christian Life Education. The program is to introduce the Christian perspective on life education, and provide training and support to schools, teachers, church workers and youth workers to develop and implement Christian life education. Integrating the socio-cultural context of Hong Kong, the programme adopts an inter-disciplinary approach to learning the growth problems of youngsters and formulating ways to help youngsters develop positive attitude towards life. Course contents include:

Foundation and Trends of Religious Education and Life Education
 Partners of Christian Life Education: Churches and Schools in Context
